INTRODUCTION

The papers of John Sevier (1745-1815), Governor of the State of Franklin, 1785-1788; member of Congress from North Carolina, 1789-1791; Brigadier General of militia of Washington District, 1791; Governor of Tennessee, 1796-1809; member of Congress from Tennessee, 1811-1815, were obtained by purchase and gift.

The materials in this collection measure .42 feet. There are no restrictions on the materials.

Single photocopies of unpublished writings in the John Sevier Papers may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The John Sevier Papers, composed of approximately 100 items for the years 1752 to ca. 1912, contain correspondence, indentures, bills, accounts, orders, programs, commissions, licenses, reports, sketches, and some genealogical data. There are twenty-three orders issued by John Sevier as clerk of the Court of Washington County, North Carolina, to the Sheriff of the County, 1779-1784; some original letters of John Sevier and a number of typed copies and Photostats of the Sevier correspondence in the Tennessee Historical Society Collection. The correspondents include the names of Gilbert Christian, Benjamin Harrison, David Henley, George E. Holms, Andrew Jackson, Walter King, William Maclin, George Sevier, James Sevier, Valentine Sevier, Isaac Shelby, William Simmonds, Creed Taylor, C.A. White, and others.

In addition to the above items, there are sketches of John Sevier and his second wife, Catherine Sherrill Sevier, as well as some genealogical and biographical data.

An addition to the Sevier Papers is a summons headed State of Franklin and dated September 10, 1785. Addressed to the sheriff of Spencer County and signed by John Sevier, the document calls on Edward Swarton to appear in court prepared to pay a judgment recovered against him by Hannah Millisan. (Ac. No. 70-1)

Another addition is a copy of a letter written by Governor John Sevier from Knoxville, Tennessee, August 3, 1804. Addressed to the Senate and House of Representatives of Tennessee, the letter states that Sevier is sending a letter from the Governor of Virginia relative to the navigation of the North Fork of the Holston River. (Ac. No. 70-68)

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

John Sevier

- 1745 Born September 23 near Harrisonburg, Rockingham County, Virginia; son of Valentine and Joanna (Goode) Sevier. (Valentine was an immigrant from England to Orange County, Virginia, ca. 1740, later settling in the Shenandoah Valley. He was a farmer, kept store and traded with Indians and settlers, and kept a tavern.)
- 1761 Married Sarah Hawkins (1747-1780); they had ten children
- Was a farmer and trader
- ca. 1765 Bought tract of land and established village of New Market, Virginia; kept a store and tavern; donated three acres of land to the Baptists
- 1770 Moved to Millerstown, Virginia (probably Woodstock); soon after 1770 became interested in the Watauga Settlements
- 1771, 1772 On invitation of Evan Shelby, visited the Holston country and Watauga Settlements
- 1773 Appointed captain of Virginia militia by Lord Dunmore, Governor of Virginia; participant in Lord Dunmore's War against the Indians
- December 24 or 25, arrived with family in what is now East Tennessee; was chosen one of the thirteen commissioners for the Watauga Association and a member of its five-man court; moved to several locations in East Tennessee
- ca. 1775 Member of thirteen-man Committee of Safety, Salisbury District, North Carolina
- 1776 One of the first representatives of the Washington District in the Provincial Congress of North Carolina
- As captain, commanded a company of cavalry militia under Colonel William Christian against the Indians; sometime in 1776 he became a Lieutenant Colonel
- July 1, under Col. John Carter, he and James Robertson were officers in charge of defense of Fort Caswell (Watauga Fort) when it was attacked by Cherokee Indians; here a woman who would become Sevier's second wife and several other women milking cows outside the fort, narrowly escaped to safety, aided by Sevier

- July 5, helped to prepare a memorial by citizens of Watauga Settlements asking that the area be brought under the government of North Carolina
- ca. 1777-78 Thought to have moved to his plantation, "Plum Grove," on the Nolachucky River, about ten miles from Jonesboro, Washington County, now in Tennessee
- 1777 Appointed brigadier general of militia of Washington District ,North Carolina
- 1779 Served under Colonel Evan Shelby in campaign against the Chickamauga Indians
- 1780 August 14, in Washington District, married Catherine ("Bonnie Kate") Sherrill (1754-1836); they had eight children
- October 7, lieutenant colonel in Battle of King's Mountain; brought with him a force of about 240 men from the Watauga Settlements; two brothers, Valentine and Robert, were also participants, as well as three of John's sons – Joseph (aged 18), James (16), and John, Jr. (14); North Carolina legislature entered resolutions praising his meritorious service during the battle
- December, as lieutenant colonel under Colonel Arthur Campbell, led 300 men against the Cherokee Indians; peace concluded January 1781
- ca. 1781 Moved across the Nolachucky River from "Plum Grove" to a new home and larger plantation, "Mount Pleasant"; much of the correspondence of the State of Franklin was written here
- 1781-82 Aided General Francis Marion against the British; engaged in Indian warfare
- 1783 North Carolina named a county in his honor (in 1794 another county with the same name and covering some of the same area was created by the Territory South of the River Ohio; this county became Sevier County, Tennessee in 1796)
- 1784 Associated with William Blount and others in land speculations
- Elected delegate to first constitutional convention of the State of Franklin
- 1785 March, elected governor of State of Franklin; served three years
- May 31, as commissioner for State of Franklin's Assembly, led delegation

- which concluded Treaty of Dumplin Creek with the Cherokee Indians
- 1788 Colonel John Tipton led a party to Sevier and State of Franklin which culminated in an armed skirmish and arrest of John Sevier by Tipton; Sevier rescued by party of friends
- 1788 Elected to the First Congress where he served from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1791
- 1791 Appointed brigadier general of militia for Washington District of the Territory South of the River Ohio
- 1793 Fought his last battle against the Indians during the Etowah campaign; is said to have fought 35 battles, all victories, mostly against the Indians
- 1794 Member of the legislative council of the Territory South of the River Ohio
- Made trustee of Blount College (University of Tennessee) and continued to be trustee until his death; was also trustee of Washington College
- 1796 Elected first Governor of Tennessee
- 1798 Elected Brigadier General of the Provisional Army of Tennessee; Sevier appointed Andrew Jackson judge of Superior Court of Law and Equity of Tennessee
- 1803- Was in conflict with Andrew Jackson, who was elected major general of the militia over Sevier; Sevier succeeded in being elected Governor of Tennessee and U.S. Representative in spite of Jackson's influence
- 1803-1809 Again elected Governor of Tennessee
- ca. 1809 He and his family probably moved to their Marble Springs farm, about 2.3 miles south of Knoxville on Neubert's Springs Road; known as the "Governor's Old Place"
- 1810-11 Member of Tennessee State Senate
- War of 1812 Rejected a high command proffered by President James Madison; said he was "too old"; instead appointed chairman of Committee on Military Affairs
- 1811-15 U.S. Representative from Tennessee (12th, 13th, and 14th Congresses)
- 1815 Was member of commission to determine boundary between Georgia and the Creek Territory in Alabama; served until his death near Fort Decatur,

Alabama

- 1815 September 24, died; interment Fort Decatur, Alabama
- 1889 Re-interment in yard of Knox County courthouse, Knoxville, beneath monument erected in his honor
